

Runaway Lads of Junior College Are Sought Here

Two 15-year old students of the Evansville junior college, a boarding school, have been missing since Saturday. They are Lawrence Bump, Madison, and Paul Goar, Woodstock, Ill.

The last seen of the two boys in Evansville was when they set out, both armed with 22 calibre rifles, as it going on a hunting trip. Notes and letters found in their school room shows both planned to run away, according to Chief Fred Gilman.

They were seen Saturday afternoon on the road now being used as a detour to route 10, walking south toward Janesville. At one other time the two started to run away but lost heart in their adventure when near Janesville.

Lawrence Bump is described as being 5 feet two inches tall, dark complexion, large, dark brown eyes. When last seen Bump wore a pair of boy scout trousers, scout socks and hat, grey flannel shirt and reddish-tan shoes.

Paul Goar is 5 feet three inches tall, dark brown eyes, heavy eye-brows with long and curly hair which he combs straight back. He was wearing long tan trousers, O. D. shirt, tan pointed shoes and did not have a cap.

"If these boys show up for work at any farm we wish that the people would notify us at once," declared Chief Gilman. "They probably tire of what they believe to be a lark."

KIWANIS CLUBS OF ELKHORN, MONROE, ORDER SHOW SEATS

Reservations for 15 seats for the opening night performance of the Janesville Kiwanis club minstrels have been made by the Monroe and Elkhorn Kiwanis clubs. Exchanges and tickets have not been heard from but it is expected that they will take large blocks of seats.

The first real rehearsal for the show was held at the Elkhorn hall Monday night, with the minstrels, chorus and leading characters going through the rehearsal under the direction of Ross Harvey and an assistant.

Rehearsals are being held every afternoon and evening until the performance. The leading characters rehearse in the afternoon. Among those taking part are Ralph Kamps, Floyd Benson, George Stiefel, Ned Fingham, William Donnett, Charles Chase, Allan Dunwiddie and Oscar Nelson.

A TIFFANY PRODUCTION

We take great pleasure in presenting to you the celebrated star, MAE MURRAY, in "FASCINATION," with a very select cast, including Creighton Hale and Charles Lane.

"Fascination" is mounted on settings that are as picturesque and artistically designed as anything that has been witnessed in some time. They have been photographed so as to bring out their particular beauty at all times, and the camera has been used to advantage on Miss Murray. The atmosphere is so accurate that the spectator is carried right into the story. The picture will be of more interest to adults than children.

the New Mystery Story

"The Green Archer"

Now Running in The Chicago Daily News

Because—

One of the greatest present-day writers of mystery stories is Edgar Wallace, author of "The Secret House," "The Clue of the Twisted Candle" and other tales of absorbing interest. "The Green Archer," written by Mr. Wallace especially for The Chicago Daily News, is one of the greatest and most original mystery stories that have appeared in recent years. Not only is the plot fascinating in its strong and simple yet baffling quality, but it is presented through the medium of characters admirably depicted in a constant succession of novel scenes and an extraordinary array of incidents, charming in their forcefulness, their swiftness of movement and their boldness of conception. All is presented with a vividness and sureness of touch that mark the true master of narrative fiction. Here is, in short, modern romance in its best and most attractive form.

Garre castle, the ancient stronghold of mediaval barons of England, with its moat, its massive walls, its dungeons, its secret passages and its ghostly legends, becomes the home of a Chicago multimillionaire with a past. He has made relentless enemies, but he glories in them as he glories in his sins and his physical strength. Chief of those who try to bring him to account for his evil deeds is a young and beautiful American girl. She has brave, clever and resourceful allies, and she wins new friends by her courage, her passionate devotion and her personal charm. But she is fighting a relentless and remorseless foe. Though brought appallingly near to defeat in dreadful forms, and even to the very verge of a terrible death, she and her forces win at last, and out of daring and danger she picks the flower of love. Here is a story of amazing contrasts, of superstition and savagery, of steadfast affection and unwavering endurance in the face of triumphant wrong. Medievalism and intense modernity are interwoven in a way that must delight the discriminating reader.

And besides—

(and this is of special interest to the "women folks")—there's

$1,000 for Some Woman or Girl who reads "The Green Archer," and $2,000 more for 159 other bright women and girls who win in the distribution of $3,000 in 160 cash prizes for the best solutions of the mystery of the story, mailed to The Chicago Daily News just before publication of the last chapter, in which the mystery is disclosed. The Chicago Daily News is pre-eminently a family newspaper, and its long-established daily installment of a high-grade serial story is a feature intended specially to commend it to the home circle. To emphasize—and advertise—the fact that The Chicago Daily News is a newspaper particularly suited to woman's reading, the condition is made that the three thousand dollars in prizes shall be paid only for explanations of the story's mystery sent in by women and girls. All may read, but only women and girls may enter the contest—and win the $3,000.

Here are the conditions of the award of $3,000 in cash prizes:

1. To the reader from whom The Daily News receives by mail at its publication offices, 15 North Wells street, Chicago, the most complete and correct solution in all its details of the entire mystery in "The Green Archer," as it shall be disclosed in the final chapter of the story, to be published Wednesday, December 13, in The Daily News, the sum of $1,000 will be paid. The entire sum of $3,000 will be awarded in 160 prizes, as follows:

For the best solution $1,000
For the second best solution $250
For the third best solution $150
For the fourth best solution $100
For the next best two solutions ($75 each) $150
For the next best four solutions ($50 each) $200
For the next best ten solutions ($25 each) $250
For the next best forty solutions ($10 each) $400
For the next best one hundred solutions ($5 each) $500
Making a total of 160 prizes $3,000

2. "The Green Archer," beginning Thursday, November 2, will continue in daily installments until Friday, December 1, on which date all but the final chapter will have been published. The interval between Friday, December 1, and Saturday, December 9, inclusive, will be allowed for forwarding solutions of the mystery.

3. The final installment of the story, disclosing the mystery, will be published in The Daily News, Wednesday, December 13.

The story began in The Chicago Daily News on Thursday last (Nov. 2), but applications for "back numbers" on the part of thousands who have since learned of the story, have quite exhausted the supply of last week's issues of the paper, and the publisher has therefore now placed in the hands of every newsdealer a generous supply of "reprints" of "The Green Archer" containing the story from the first chapter up to date of publication of this advertisement, and a day or two beyond. This makes it possible for new readers to still begin reading the story from the first chapter, and for every woman and girl to still enter the race for the 160 prizes, amounting to $3,000.

Get your story "reprint" from your newsdealer to-day (they cost nothing), or mail a postal card request for one to The Chicago Daily News, 15 North Wells street, Chicago.

The Black Menace

A CRAIG KENNEDY STORY

By ARTHUR B. REEVES.

The story of the Black Menace has to do with the fortunes of Claire Kennedy, ward of a respectable uncle, who dies, and she finds herself penniless, the entire fortune having been dissipated. There is enough evidence left behind to show that the uncle was the victim of blackmailers. Claire employs Raymond, a detective, to unravel the case, and later appeals to Craig Kennedy, the chemist-detective. The story is told by a companion and friend of Kennedy's. The effort is to locate the Black Menace who is responsible for the series of blackmailing crimes striking New York. Finally, one of the victims, a girl named Claire, is rescued from a country house on Long Island, where she had been held. A beautiful and mysterious woman, Claire is the hostess of a party in New York, and she is held prisoner in New York. She is engaged to be married to Jack Speed, a young newspaper reporter.

His plan was simple to understand and seemed strategically correct. My party was delegated to approach from the road in front of the house in the easterly direction. The other with Speed was to come from the west along the same road. There could be no way of their getting off at either of the two gates that opened from the grounds to the road, one used as an entrance and the other as an exit. From this side it seemed that the road would be effectively guarded.

For himself, Kennedy planned that he would take the back road, to the south and come to the rear of the house, cutting off the retreat which the other two attending parties would have. Above all, Craig cautioned us to exercise care, as we waited, not to come to the place that might be passing at the time.

We separated and drove through the town as though we were strangers to each other. Our first stop was to allow Kennedy to get a start in the detour that was necessary to reach the back road. My detour, which I chose to come around on the other side of the house, was much shorter, and I started off to make it leaving Speed to drive about a bit before shooting out on the road to his position, which was nearly at the turn in the road just before it passed the Mystery House, and while we watched for Kennedy's signal, I had the driver of the car lift the hood and pretend an elaborate tinkering with the motor to cover our stop-by the road side. Nothing passed as we waited except a delivery wagon, and as that did not turn into the house, I felt reassured that we were so far unobserved.

"There's the rocket," exclaimed one of the operatives. Through an opening in the trees we could see Kennedy's signal. From our point of vantage it was only a matter of minutes for us to reach the house. We drove forward, turned in at the exit from the grounds and left the car squarely across the gateway so as to barricade it.

"Come on!" I shouted to the four operatives, as we leaped out with drawn revolvers and proceeded on a run up the chuder drive. From the other direction along the road I could see Speed already turning in. He noted how I had left my car, backed his own across the entrance in the same way and with his four men, began running up the driveway.

As I ran I could see that Kennedy must have got somewhat of a start of us, for already his party was visible, emerging from a clump of woods in the rear.

Thus we converged on the house, almost without warning, and I am convinced that it was only the suddenness of the onslaught that saved us from a rapid fire of bullets from those in the house.

Nearing the front porch, but still unable to see about the side of the house, I saw that some distance back of it was an old barn. There I could see that Kennedy paused just an instant to leave Claire in the shelter of the barn, unwilling to have her in the actual fighting which he thought would take place when we all reached the house.

There were several cars about the side of the house, showing that there were the usual afternoon visitors. But we did not stop.

On my end I managed to break through a French window that opened out on the side porch, while I could hear Speed battering at the front door, already barred to him. In the rear Kennedy was attacking a stout back door.

The French windows bulged in before our blows and we found ourselves in the room where the roulette wheel had been in operation. I had expected an immediate attack. Instead there did not seem to be a soul in the house.

Besides, the roulette wheel was gone. Several other articles of furniture which might have proved of an incriminating nature were smashed. I knew that it was all merely a blind; that they must have seen us coming.

Speed dashed in through the central hall at the moment that Kennedy, coming from the rear, joined us. Somehow it all seemed to easy. The silence was ominous.

We dashed from room to room. Everything had been wrecked or removed, evidently in the greatest haste. Had someone tipped them off, after all? Where were Jim, Rene and the suave Jacques.

Suddenly there was a violent explosion and a radiator in the living room blew up as if it had been a bomb. Not a second later, another in the hall shattered, scattering flame far and wide—as from the jointed end of a pipe—a jet of gas apparently shot out in a long tongue.

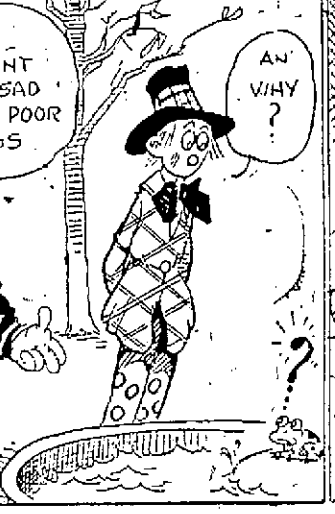

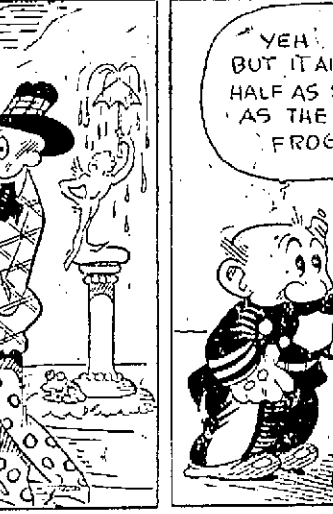

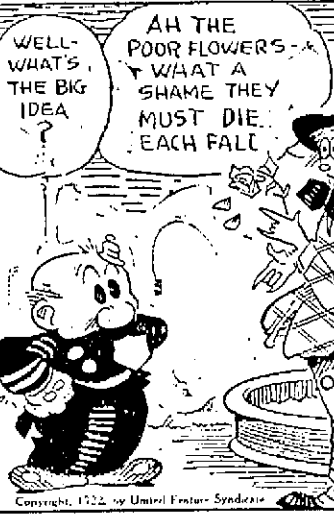

In which we were, as amid flying splinters and pieces of steel another radiator exploded. One after another they went, like a bombardment and instantly almost every door and window was a curtain of flame.

"Must have connected the gas main somehow with the steam heat," cried Kennedy to us from the hall. "Get to the windows where there are no radiators—quick—jump."

BEAUTY CHATS by Edna Kent Forbes

THE busiest woman is sure to be the one who needs hand treatments the most. This housewife can manage a little time each day to repair the ravages of cooking and cleaning. But the business woman is rarely mistress of her hours, that is, she will be so busy at night that she will want to rest or enjoy herself, rather than spend her precious leisure beautifying herself.

For each woman I would suggest a weekly hand treatment that will not take a great deal of time. This is to wear what are called cosmetic gloves every Saturday night, since Sunday morning she will have more time to continue the treatment. She can purchase any number of cosmetic gloves, which come for this purpose, but plain vaseline or cold cream will do if the hands are simply dry and old looking. A bleaching paste is made as follows:

Powdered myrrh 1 ounce
Honey 4 ounces
Yellow wax 2 ounces
Rosewater 6 ounces

Mix the wax and stir in the myrrh, beat thoroughly and add the honey and rosewater and a little plain glycerine. As it cools it hardens, but by adding the rosewater you will soon have a paste that will spread easily.

Scrub the hands thoroughly with hot water and soap, removing stains with lemon juice. Rinse, rub in a generous quantity of the paste and pull on over the hands an old pair of loose kid gloves. Wear these all night. In the morning wash off the paste with soap and water and as soon as convenient afterwards give the nails a thorough manicure. Such a treatment once a week will always keep the nails pretty.

Cuticle—A girl of 17, 5 feet 4 inches, is normal weight at 110 lbs. pounds. If your hair becomes too oily before shampoo time dust some powder through it and allow it to remain on only long enough to absorb the excess oil. Shake all this out of the hair, as any that remains will cause it to dry and become eventually brittle.

Oxtails and woolen hose make a comfortable combination as they afford protection and freedom for exercising.

Turkey—Hair is a case for expert surgery. No formula will avail. Thursday—A perfumed breath.

"But what have you been doing?" we asked in chorus.

"Oh, I was the nasty accident!"—Eve (London).

Little four-year-old Jimmy, being told to pray for his absent father, put his small brother who was ill, and the servant who had scolded her, all in one prayer.

"And now, God, please take good care of yourself, for if anything happens to you we'll all be in the soup."

"Most men marry a girl they love little to escape marrying one they love less."

"A wife is so irrevocable and interminable. You have to put up with her all day, and what's worse, all night, too. And that not for an acre but for all time. You've even got to do it I suppose, in the life beyond."

Fancy walking up in the next world and finding your wife still there. "She had not the imagination to believe he could be as great as he dreamed. It wanted imagination to think that a child whose neck she had washed could be the equal of Thackeray or Dumas. But even Shakespeare, thought David must have had his neck washed by someone."—"Rosenall," by Ernest Raymond.

whom it would hurt very much if I went away to make my own living. Things would be all right if he would only make the children happy.

Usually a husband pays as little attention to the housework as his wife does to his business. If he has his meals on time, finds clean clothes to wear, and the house is reasonably clean, he takes it for granted that all is well at home. He does not stop to realize how much work it means for a wife to keep the home running smoothly. Naturally your tasks are multiplied because there are children, but probably your husband does not realize your position. He loves his children and thinks they are "nice," even if you have an opinion to the contrary.

A step-mother is in a delicate position. Usually the children do not like her any better than she does them after a few weeks of living together. It seems to me, however, that the mother is more to blame than the children when there is trouble, because she is not tactful with them. Naturally children cannot be expected to be tactful.

Try harder to get the point of view of the children and to please them. Be careful of the tone of voice you use when reproving them and do not get into a habit of nagging about everything they do. Your work will be simplified if you sweetly, but firmly, set tasks for each child. This should be your work and not the father's because you are in charge of the work at home, not he.

Love more and criticize less. If you keep a harmonious and happy state of mind you will create such conditions. Don't think of your own happiness and benefits, because that is selfish. Since you married a man with children it is your duty to make the home happy for the children.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have children in school and somehow they get lice. I have got rid of the lice, but it seems as if I cannot get the lice out of their hair. What will take them off?

ANNIOUS PARENT.

Wash the children's hair, and while it is wet comb it with a fine dandruff comb. This will remove most of the lice, and the rest can be picked off easily while they are wet.

INDIANS CAVORTING IN MILWAUKEE? SURE!

Milwaukee—According to a letter received by Chalmers Travers, secretary of the Milwaukee Association of Commerce, Wisconsin is still looked upon as the home of the Indians. A letter from one of the children of a school, Tonka, Minn., read as follows:

"I am in the third grade. We are studying about the Indians. I know that you live in Milwaukee where some of the Indians live. I would like to know if you have any booklets you could send us. If you send some they would help us out a lot."

Dear Mrs. Thompson: What do you think of a man who marries a woman and expects her to go into his home and work and do for him and his children and expect his children to do nothing for her in return? If he loves me as he says he does, why does he let me do all the work, cook, wash dishes, wash and iron, sew, patch for these children, and then see that they do nothing for me? I am willing to do it, but I want to know if I am doing it for him and not for myself.

Only today he asked me to go for a walk. I said after I got the dishes washed it would not be too late. If he loves me why didn't he say that some one could help me. He only said it would be too late.

I love this man, dearly, but I have begun lately to feel my love grow less because he does not see that I am helped with the work. I would tell him what to do, but I think it is their papa's place. Surely he can see that I have to do for them and it would make it much easier for me if they would help me.

I am puzzled about what to do. I cannot make my own living but sometimes I think it would be easier than to live here and do the work for all of them. I have a dear mother

Brakeman Says He Dreaded To Make Trip

"Tallac certainly put me on the right road, for I am feeling as good as ever did, and everybody tells me how much better I am looking," declared Roy Clark, 213 Summit Ave., Beloit, Wis., well-known brakeman for the C. & N. W. Railroad, running from Milwaukee to Savannah, Ill.

"My stomach was all out of order. I had no appetite and was in a badly run-down condition. I would bloat up with gas, and felt so tired out all the time I just dreaded to go out on my run. My nerves were all unstrung and at times I simply wasn't able to make the trip.

"Four bottles of Tallac gave me such a big appetite I just want to be eating all the time. My nervousness and tired out feeling have entirely disappeared. I am certainly strong for Tallac and I make no secret of it."

Tallac is sold by all good druggists.

Clears the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there is no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, rapid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immediate effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

ECONOMIC ISSUES INTEREST VOTERS

Problems of Labor and Capital
Central Theme of Nation's Thought.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1922, by Janesville Daily Gazette.

(This is the concluding dispatch of a series of four analyzing public sentiment from coast to coast after a thorough analysis. Much interest has been manifested in 21 different states—the most extensive canvass made by any correspondent this fall.)

Washington—Superstition politics, the main theme of labor and capital constitute today the central theme of the nation's thoughts.

Economic upheavals, past and present, the ups and downs of labor costs, and all the related questions derived therefrom, come much nearer being the national concern than the outcome of any elections.

Now that the congressional "campaign" has begun, it is inevitable that the currents of thought, which have been running from coast to coast since the election of last year, shall converge. Whatever else congress may have on its mind this winter, it will feel the pressure of the whole country's mind on the economic problems being tackled in earnest.

Looking ahead to 1934, it would not be surprising if major political issues were developed by that time, out of the railroad and coal controversies. Much as the leaders of trade unionism in America may dislike to read unpleasant news, they cannot afford to ignore the fact that in many parts of the United States, the economic situation is becoming more and more critical. The dislike of trade unionism has been confined to interested quarters—namely business and professional men whose every day work brought them into contact with it. In conflict with unions, today the hostility to unionism has risen out of the mass of people who have been injured by the recent controversies over transportation and fuel.

Arguing the Merits
Tracing the lines of public thought, one finds a certain impatience with the controversies of a major character cannot be settled without resort to force. There is little disposition to argue the merits of any controversy. Few persons outside of labor ranks, when the writer encountered, were ready to say "the shopmen were right—we must suffer for their cause."

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immediate effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

It is criticized because it is composed of three groups—one representing labor, one representing the public and one representing the railroads. The public group really decides things and the other two are merely parties. Whatever machinery is set up should be widely representative of the public interest with opportunity for both sides to present evidence and argument on their respective cases—that is the sentiment which is growing stronger today than ever before.

The problem of coal is much the same. Both sides have organizations which can dominate nationally and injure the public. The necessity for a coal tribunal of national authority is recognized.

The next congress will make a cardinal mistake if it attempts to stop the issues developed by the rail and coal strikes. Such organizations of labor and capital wield power greater than that of the government itself and are able to inflict injury on the public almost at will. It's the biggest of the unsettled problems before the country today and one whose ultimate prospect will mean more to the public than that of the United States in this era of commercial expansion than any other single development in the next two years.

What becomes of 30,000,000 cement sacks a year?

Practically 90 per cent of the 95,000,000 barrels of portland cement shipped last year was delivered in returnable cotton sacks.

To supply users of cement promptly, the industry must have about 200,000,000 sacks either on hand or in use.

The sack method of shipping is most convenient. There are four sacks to a barrel. Each sack contains 94 pounds of cement—a cubic foot. And a cubic foot is a handy volume in proportioning concrete mixtures.

When cement is shipped, the sacks are baled to the purchaser. When they are returned, they are bought back at the same price if they are in usable or repairable condition. This involves much work in checking, cleaning, sorting and repairing.

But in spite of the fact that every good cement sack is redeemable, 30,000,000 of the sacks shipped every year fail to come back—a loss of nearly $5,000,000 a year at present prices of new sacks.

To replace these "lost, strayed or stolen" sacks requires annually over 30,000 bales of cotton. It requires that the textile industry weave a strip of cloth 30 inches wide and 17,000 miles long. It means that 1,600 looms are kept working full time for a year.

Thousands of sacks returned to the cement mills for redemption are damaged, yet accepted for credit, if they can be repaired. This repair is done by the cement manufacturer at his own expense.

A medium sized plant shipping, say 1,000,000 barrels of cement a year, has to repair an average of 6,000 sacks per day from among those returned for credit. This keeps 6 people constantly working at rapidly operated electric sewing machines. In a million barrel a year plant, 22 people are constantly employed sorting, counting, repairing and otherwise caring for returned sacks so that they may again be used.

At the present time $30,000,000 would be a conservative estimate of the investment which the cement industry has in cotton sacks.

Sacks are one of the lesser, but nevertheless important items in the cement industry.

W. I. A. A. to Act on State H. S. Grid Race on Thursday

Copyright 1920 by Geo. McManus

BOARD MAY CHANGE SCHOLASTIC RULE AND LIMIT ON AGE

Two meetings of importance will be held by the Wisconsin Inter-Scholastic Athletic Association this week in Milwaukee. One will be Thursday night and the other Friday afternoon.

Consider Football Title
The state football championship game will be the center of discussion Thursday night. The board, according to Secretary Fred J. Hein, will take up the matter of scheduling elimination contests. The following teams remain in the race: Racine, Port Washington, La Crosse, Marinette, Portage, River Falls, Spooner, Stevens Point, Sheboygan, Superior Central, West Allis and Wausau.

Superior high school will present a formal request to the board of the W. I. A. A. to stage the 1923 state high school football championship game in the northwestern city. Superior claims it has sent teams to Madison and Marinette for title games and believes it should have consideration this year.

Friday, the redistricting of the state into 16 zones for elimination basketball tournaments will again be taken up. Janesville is one of the localities under consideration. The problem of whether the state board will take 50 per cent of the proceeds, or less, is to be settled.

May Rules Are Limited
It is probable that an attempt will be made to institute a "no-con" rule, making it necessary for a student to be up in every subject in order to compete in athletic contests. There is a possibility that the board will take action on the age limit among Wisconsin high school students. The board state has a minimum limit of 17 years. All students surrounding Wisconsin have an age limit of 22 years. Many schools in this state are trying to have this limit made the regulation for Wisconsin. Milwaukee schools being particularly active along this line.

PAUL CASTNER, in scoring all of Notre Dame's points in the 27-0 victory over Indiana last Saturday, did everything a football back can do. He drop kicked from the 45 and 35 yard lines, scores two touchdowns following runs of 20 and 22 yards from scrimmage, intercepted a pass and ran 37 yards for another touchdown; kicked three goals after touchdowns, returned a kickoff 55 yards and played a strong defensive game. His punting averaged 50 yards and one kick was good for 58 yards.

ILLINOIS, according to a report from Beloit, is stirring up an old question on the eligibility of Rolfe Williams, star halfback of the Wisconsin football team. The Illinois has had men at work photographing copies of the Beloit Daily News, which contained stories of the famous Beloit-Lakota Cardinal-Beloit Fair basketball series of 1920, in which no one denies Williams played. According to reports from Madison, Williams was not attending Wisconsin at that time. It seems Illinois is going to extra long efforts to get something on the Badgers.

SOME team, that eleven at Quantico Marine barracks, Lanes, center, was captain of the Navy last year. Liversidge, football star and weight thrower at California, and Lott, who played on the University of Oregon team that trimmed Pennsylvania at the Carnival of Roses six years ago, the tackle, McLain and Goetzke, back and half from Ohio State College, and earned fame as a forward passer with the Kansas Aggies. They are all commissioned officers in Uncle Sam's finest military organization. Who said "Leathernecks"?

VOLLEY BALL, which is gaining in favor as an indoor game for men who are tied down by their desks during the day, is to be played under a new ruling. The new rules for 1922, which will probably be adopted generally, make the game more specific. In addition, there is to be a scorekeeper who will share the handling of the game with the referee.

MORSE SHOE pitching certainly is gaining in favor. When the north wind is out because of cold weather the south takes it up. St. Petersburg, Fla., is constructing a clubhouse for the devotees of "chucking Dobbin's" outdoor shoe. The new grounds are to cost $10,000. Dobbin's for the winter tournament will total $3,500. Some game, this one that originated in the front yard of some blacksmith shop.

Oiler, Minnesota full, hurt and may not play against Iowa Saturday. Captains and freshmen battle almost on even terms in Iowa drill. Northwestern tries shifts in line, preparatory to Saturday's game with Purdue. Capt. Carberry, will play with Notre Dame against Army. Injury gained in the Georgia Tech game still bothering him.

GAZETTE'S GRID EXTRA IS HANDED BOUQUET BY HOLT

The Gazette's special efforts to give the football fans of Janesville the speediest and best possible report of the Janesville-Education high school football game met with instant response. The extra was on the street 12 minutes after the final play. Sale of papers was heavy. Comment on the length to which the Gazette went was one of appreciation.
Frank O. Holt, superintendent of schools, expresses his feelings in the following letter:

"Nov. 6, 1922.
"Mr. Frank Singlair, Sporting Editor, Gazette—Dear Sir: I want to indicate to you what I thought of the athletic edition after the game of last Saturday. It brought me back to my college days when such an edition was indicative of a strong spirit of loyalty to the school, and have not seen such an edition since that time except in a college town. You are to be congratulated on your splendid achievement. I believe that the readers of the Gazette gave a very warm, while appreciation of your efforts. Sincerely,
"FRANK O. HOLT,

Whitewater Game with Milton Comes to Janesville Grid

Milton.—The Milton-Whitewater football game, scheduled to be played here Nov. 17, will be transferred to the Janesville fair grounds, where Milton's other home games have taken place this season. The change from the local park to Janesville was definitely announced Tuesday night by Coach George H. Crandall of Milton college after a conference with Physical Director Agnew of the normal school.

The fact that Union high school's home game with Evansville would conflict with the college contest was one of the principal reasons for the transfer. Whitewater's offer to let Milton use Milton field as the normal school was considered by Crandall before making his decision to play in Janesville.

Capt. Russell Hill, left tackle, cracked a rib in practice Monday afternoon, but will undoubtedly be in the line to play against Wisconsin School of Mines at Plattville Thursday. Lovel Blackie, Janesville youth, will resume his place in the backfield after being out since the Plattville normal game because of injuries.

Local High Team Takes no Chances with Elkhorn Crew

Following two nights of fairly light practice, during which strenuous steps were taken to correct their errors in the game with Edgerton here last Saturday, Janesville high school's football team was ready to go on the field against Elkhorn-high here Wednesday afternoon. The combat started at 3 p. m.

The Blues entered the contest with a healthy regard for the ability of the Walworth county outfit. Coach Warfield was going to take no chances. With the team idle next Saturday and the Beloit game a week later, he was expected to test his regulars against the visitors Wednesday. Janesville came out of the Tobacco city affair practically unharmed.

Illini Trying to Oust Rolfe for Basketball Here?

Madison.—Now Illinois is going after Rolfe Williams, star half back on the Badger grid team, with hopes of having him banned for a seasonal loan, according to a note coming here from Beloit. This information is to the effect that representatives of Illinois have visited a Beloit newspaper office and have had copies of "bank numbers of 1246 photographed."

Illinois is digging up the old charges that were levied last year against Rolfe for playing with the Janesville Lakota Cardinals in 1920 against the Beloit Bruins. When queried about it Tuesday, Coach John Richards laughed, remarking that there can be nothing to it.

"Williams is clear," said Richards. "Williams was not in school at the time the game was played there. Although he had been at school early in the fall, he was out at the time. If Illinois wants to stir up charges again let them go to it. It's not in danger as far as I can see."
